Fourth Trial of Macchione Before Jury At Vernon

New Chapter in British Columbia Legal History Is Being Written

Murder Charge Was Laid in 1936

VERNON, B.C. (CP)—The fourth trial of Vincent Macchione opened here today before Mr. Justice Denis Murphy, after an assize court jury last night had disagreed in its effort to find a verdict at his third trial.

Macchione is charged with the murder of Michael Hudock near Fernie, B.C., early in 1936.

A new chapter in British Columbia legal history opened as the court reassembled today.

Twice since the body of Hudock was found in February, 1936, in the mountain-shadowed Crow's Nest Pass, four miles from Fernie, Macchione has been convicted and sentenced to death. His case made history as he won reprieves by a series of court moves and circumstances in which the death of an Appeal Court judge played an important part.

His third trial, which began here Monday, was ordered after the death last January of Mr. Justice A. E. McPhillips had made it impossible for the British Columbia Appeal Court, to implement the reopening of Macchione's second appeal from a conviction of murder.

The prosecution here is being conducted by Attorney-General Gordon Wismer, who said it was not his intention "to seek any vengeance," but felt he must take part in the proceedings because of the importance of the case.

FOUR DAYS' EVIDENCE

The jurors' disagreement last night came at the end of four days' testimony by 20 witnesses who related incidents leading up to the mortal wounding of Hudock by a shotgun charge near the East Kootenay coal-mining town.

Twice before juries had considered similar evidence and returned verdicts of guilty which resulted in the imposition of the death penalty on the stock Sicilian section-hand, Macchione first was told he must be hanged August 12, 1936, for the slaying of Hudock, but execution of the sentence was postponed till November, and later stayed, when he lodged and won an appeal for a new trial.

Again the legal processes of the court paved the way to the gallows with another conviction, but the date was set back four times while the Appeal Court pondered his plea for a third trial.

Jobless Coming Sunday Night

Have Not Abandoned Plan to Send 1,500, Say "Sit-downers"

VANCOUVER (CP)—A spokesman for the Relief Project Workers' Union said today 100 union members would leave here Sunday night for Victoria to present their case for a relief works program to the British Columbia government.

R. W. Campbell, publicity agent for the R.P.W.U., said the men would "sit on the government's doorstep until something is done about work and wages for us all."

"We have not given up our plan to send 1,500 men over there," Campbell said.

He did not expand on his reference to "sitting on the government's doorstep." It was not known whether the R.P.W.U. intended to stage in Victoria a repetition of present "sit-down" demonstrations in two Vancouver buildings.

About 500 men today completed their fourth week of peaceful occupation of the central post office and civic art gallery here.

A delegation of the Greater Vancouver Youth Council was informed by Premier Pattullo yesterday afternoon that no special treatment in government works jobs would be given to single "sit-downers" in Vancouver public buildings.

The Premier pointed out, however, that British Columbia single men would have equal opportunity with other non-relief persons in getting jobs on road contracts. The government, however, was not going to give transients any preference over bona fide British Columbia residents for the jobs that might be available.

Prince Tokugawa Is in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Prince Iyasato Tokugawa of Japan, who became ill in Regina while en route to London, England, to attend the International Red Cross convention there, arrived back in Vancouver today.

The 75-year-old prince will spend several days in hospital here before continuing to Tokyo aboard the liner Hiye Maru next Tuesday.

Commons Committee Drafts Act to Bar Restriction of Freedom of M.P.'s

OTTAWA (CP)—The special House committee preparing a revision of the Election Act today inserted in the bill a clause to make it illegal for any candidate for Parliament to sign any document or pledge "that will prevent him from exercising freedom of action in Parliament, if elected, or to resign as such member if called upon to do so by any persons or association of persons."

The committee adopted the clause without recorded discussion though there were some expressions of dissent from Rene Pelletier, Social Credit, Peace River, Alta., and Robert Fair, Social Credit, Battle River, Sask. The latter declared it would protect candidates but forget the electors.

Louis Robichaud, Liberal, Kent, N.B., wanted the committee to go farther. He would have it made an offence for anyone to tender a document for signature to a candidate if such document would restrict his freedom of action in Parliament.

With the exception of building supplies and such products as harness, feeds for fur farms and equipment and supplies for fishermen's boats, the sales tax was left where it was.

Budget Stimulates Housing and Will Aid B.C. Lumbering

Removal of Sales Tax on Building Materials Seen Chief Feature

Chief comment in British Columbia today on the Dunning budget of 1938 centred on the removal of the 8 per cent sales tax on building materials which it was said would have two effects: 1, to stimulate building and home construction; 2, to increase the market for British Columbia lumber.

However, the B.C. division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association claimed the tax was taken off finished materials but put onto the raw products.

Victoria builders said the removal of the tax would mean savings of from $50 on construction of smallest type houses to $5,000 on big buildings.

As a general stimulus to the construction industry, the government excluded from the sales tax all the major products entering home building.

Complete list of building materials which Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Finance, announced yesterday in his budget would be exempt from the 8 per cent sales tax follows:

Bricks; building tile, building blocks and building stone; plaster; lime, cement; stucco and stucco dash, lumber, sash, doors, shingles, lath, siding, stairways, balustrades, plaster boards, fibre boards, wallpaper, building paper, and materials manufactured wholly or in part of vegetable or mineral fibre for wall coverings or building insulation, paints, varnishes, white lead and paint oil, prepared roofings.

Shower baths, bath tubs, basins, faucets, closets, lavatories, sinks and laundry tubs, not including pipes and pipe fittings; glass for buildings.

Furnaces for heating buildings, builders hardware, namely: locks, lock sets, butts, hinges, pulleys and window fasteners.

With the exception of building supplies and such products as harness, feeds for fur farms and equipment and supplies for fishermen's boats, the sales tax was left where it was.

TEACHERS ASK PENSION HELP

Federation Discusses Superannuation Fund Problem With Cabinet

Government aid in re-establishing the teachers' pension fund in British Columbia on a sound basis was sought by J. M. Burnett, president, and Harry Charlesworth, secretary, of the P.C. Teachers' Federation, which met the provincial cabinet this morning.

The exact nature of the teachers' proposals was not divulged by either side.

"They may need changes in the legislation which was not worked out in the first place," said Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education.

At the recent teachers' convention it was revealed that the reserves in the superannuation fund are rapidly disappearing because of the large number of teachers on pension.

Whether the government will have to contribute more funds to the scheme was not decided. In the first place, the government made a special donation of $25,000 a year for 10 years to build up the reserve. This donation has now finished.

COAL MINES INQUIRY

EDMONTON (CP)—The commission appointed by the federal government to investigate a wage dispute involving 2,600 employees of bituminous coal mines in Alberta and British Columbia began its Edmonton sitting today. Starting sittings at Calgary in late April, the tribunal has held hearings in Blairmore, Fernie and Cadomin.

BLUBBER BAY GROUP COMING

Union Head to Lead Delegation Here Monday From Strike Scene

VANCOUVER (CP)—Harold Pritchett, president of the International Woodworkers of America, will head a delegation to Victoria Monday to interview Minister of Labor George Pearson on various labor questions, including a strike of Pacific Ljme Company employees at Blubber Bay, B.C.

The strike was called by the union on June 2 after the men had refused to accept unanimous recommendations of a three-man conciliation board set up under the new British Columbia Conciliation and Arbitration Act.

About 100 men were affected by the strike, 70 of them Orientals. Meanwhile, about 60 employees of the company's sawmill and dry kiln continued at their jobs.

Efforts of logging companies and employees at Port Alberni to reach an agreement on wages and union recognition will also be discussed by the delegation, another member of which will be Paul Coughlin of Seattle, international attorney for the Woodworkers' Union.

Pritchett said in an interview here that he believed the importation of logs into Canada from the United States was "not yet very prevalent," but that it was resulting in sawmills in the United States and logging camps in Canada shutting down.

Thousands of Boats and Rafts Used by Refugees in Attempt to Escape From Path of Yellow River Flood; Japanese Engineers Say Task of Stemming the Waters Is Hopeless

BLACK CLOUDS MEAN LITTLE

Greater Victoria Alone of Large Area Still Without Rain

Heavy, dark clouds, which obscured the sky this morning meant nothing in the way of rain and the most that might be expected this evening was a light shower or two, it was said this morning at the Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill.

Weather observers expect the sky to clear today at sunset. The weather was clear for a few hours this morning, but by 9:30 heavy clouds had blotted out the blue. Victorians, noticing a big mass of black clouds in the northern sky were sure rain would follow. The drought, however, continues and a record-dry spell will be established if rain does not fall tomorrow.

Heavy rains fell up-island yesterday morning and at Nanaimo there was a lightning storm. The lower mainland and the State of Washington also had a heavy shower.

The lower section of Vancouver Island, of a wide area, was alone without rain. Only a few scattered drops, hardly enough to wet the ground, fell in the Greater Victoria district.

Czechs to Add To Air War Force

PRAHA (CP-Havas)—President Eduard Benes today asserted Czechoslovakia's strength in the air must not lag behind any other European country.

Members of both Houses of Parliament turned over to the state a month's salary to be added to the national defence fund. Czechoslovakia's war chest was thus increased by 1,000,000 lorina (about $35,000).

Rothschilds Are Held For Ransom

Germans' Price For Freedom of Baron Louis Reported Set at $10,000,000

LONDON (CP-Havas)—The Star, Liberal, today said Germany may demand ransom for female members of the Rothschild family now detained in Vienna, as well as for Baron Louis Rothschild, head of the banking family's Vienna branch.

The newspaper said London financial circles were convinced the holding of important Jews for ransom was new evidence of Germany's acute need for foreign currency.

According to the Daily Herald, Labor, the ransom for Baron Louis was fixed at £2,000,000 ($10,000,000), as "compensation" for losses suffered in 1931 with collapse of the Credit-Anstalt giant bank of which he was president.

Socialist sources said a close friend of the Vienna Rothschilds, an English captain, had made several trips to Paris and London since the Baron's arrest and imprisonment, and the Nazis expected all branches of the family to contribute to the ransom.

They added that Baron Louis, first sent to a concentration camp, is now held at the Hotel Metropole, Vienna headquarters of the German secret police, and that he has been allowed to see no one, not even his lawyer.

Baron Alphonse and Baron Eugene, his younger brothers, are now in Paris.

Budget Approved By Bank Head

OTTAWA (CP)—S. H. Logan, president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, today pronounced the budget brought down in the Commons yesterday "a good one."

He said that if Mr. Dunning could balance his budget at $13,000,000 and include the Canadian National Airways deficit and relief expenditures he was doing a marvelous job.

Even Japanese army engineers in China, who first estimated Chinese civilian flood deaths at 150,000, have revised those estimates down to 50,000 and other sources indicate the although hundreds of thousands are in danger.

The navy ministry spokesman said the floods had made Japan all the more determined to crush Chiang Kai-shek "in order to save innocent Chinese."

France Will Be Ruled By Decree

Parliament Adjourns Till November, Leaving Wide Powers to Daladier

PARIS (AP)—The French government today adjourned Parliament until November, gaining a free hand to rule the republic until then by decree without interference from the chambers.

Premier Edouard Daladier read a decree closing the session to a quiet Chamber of Deputies, dismissing the legislators before Communist demands for ending nonintervention in the Spanish war could arise again to trouble the cabinet.

These demands, embodied in a

SHANGHAI (AP)—A hundred-mile-long blanket of muddy water spread rapidly southeast through Honan province Friday as half-naked Japanese engineers, aided by thousands of Chinese peasants, labored desperately in rushing materials to mend broken dikes of the Yellow River.

Continuing rain, however, appeared to doom their efforts as the Yellow cascade pouring through wide breaks in the dikes north and west of Kaifeng reached the walls of Choukiakow, nearly 100 miles south of the normal course.

John Earl Baker, head of the International Red Cross relief work, here, said: "This is the worst thing that ever happened to China—the combination of war and flood."

Directly in front of the devastating current, thousands of small boats and crudely fashioned rafts bearing refugees used all available rivers and canals to seek a haven in the market towns of Anhwei province to the east.

NEW COURSE

An Associated Press correspondent, flying food over the flood area, reported the Yellow River appeared to be changing its course to join China's other great river, the Yangtze.

The yellow torrent was flowing into a tributary of the Hwai River, whence it would reach the Yangtze below Nanking, former Chinese capital.

The water seemed to be cutting a new channel from which it might not be diverted until Japanese could repair the broken dikes some time next fall or winter.

Japanese staff officers said the task of stemming the flood now appeared hopeless. Almost 90 per cent of the giant stream's water was rearing through quarter mile gaps into the countryside.

It was estimated 500,000 Chinese soon would be in flight.

JAPANESE VIEWS

TOKIO (AP)—Japanese official spokesmen and the press are presenting the Yellow River floods as a great crime committed by the Chinese government against its own people.

Tokio newspaper accounts have put the death toll as high as 300,000, emphasizing the government of Chiang Kai-shek, through breaking Yellow River dikes, has killed more of its own people through drowning than Japanese air bombers have killed "accidentally."

Even Japanese army engineers in China, who first estimated Chinese civilian flood deaths at 150,000, have revised those estimates down to 50,000 and other sources indicate the although hundreds of thousands are in danger.

The navy ministry spokesman said the floods had made Japan all the more determined to crush Chiang Kai-shek "in order to save innocent Chinese."

Before adjourning, the Chamber and Senate gave final approval to a bill for wartime organization of the nation. This ratifies previous decrees providing for "total mobilization" in case of war and unifying the armed forces under a single national defence chief of staff.

EIRE'S VOTERS AT POLLS TODAY

One of Three Possible Outcomes of General Election Awaited

DUBLIN (CP) — Eire voters went to the polls today in a general election expected to result in one of three ways:

1. Prime Minister de Valera might receive the clear parliamentary majority desired by him.
2. Another stalemate in the Dail Eireann such as existed since the last election, July 1, 1937.
3. The Fine Gael opposition might return to office from which Mr. de Valera's Fianna Fail Party ousted it in 1932.

The polls opened at 9 a.m., B.S.T. midnight, P.S.T., and closed at 9 p.m. Counting of ballots will begin Saturday, with prospects some results will be announced that day and the remainder, delayed by the checking of proportional representation ballots, made known over the week-end.

Standing in the Dail Eireann, lower house of the Parliament of Eire, at dissolution was as follows: Fianna Fail (government) 68, Fine Gael (opposition) 48, Labor 13, Independents 8, vacancy 1, total 138.

The vacant seat was held by a supporter of the government who died. After election of a Speaker from the government majority the ministerialists were in a minority of one if Labor and the Independents joined with the Fine Gael.

Formerly the government enjoyed the support of Labor on most questions, but of late that group had manifested increased independence, and in the election campaign was decidedly hostile to the Fianna Fail Party.

Hepburn Backs Globe Statement

Ontario Premier Says Roebuck's Version of Resignation Wrong

TORONTO (CP)—A statement published June 3 in the Toronto Globe and Mail by C. George McCullagh, president and publisher of the newspaper, after former Attorney-General Arthur W. Roebuck had testified before a special committee of the Ontario Legislature, was "absolutely right," Premier Hepburn said today.

Mr. Roebuck was "absolutely wrong" when he charged his dismissal from the government and alteration of the government's policy on power questions had been demanded of the Premier by Mr. McCullagh in December, 1936, Premier Hepburn told the legislative committee inquiring into affairs of the Ontario Hydro-electric Power Commission.

"Never at any time was I asked to have Mr. Roebuck resign," he said. (Testifying before the committee, Mr. Roebuck said the Premier "told me that my dismissal and a change in the hydro policy was the price of the Globe and Mail's support of the government and the immunity of the government from attacks by the Globe and Mail.") The Premier did not ask for Mr. Roebuck's resignation until April, 1937.

(In his statement, Publisher McCullagh said: "I never at any time made the Globe and Mail's support contingent on whether Mr. Roebuck was in or out of the government.")

OSHAWA STRIKE
The Premier said the resignations of Mr. Roebuck as Attorney-General and David A. Croil, Liberal member of the Legislature for Windsor-Walkerville, as Minister of Welfare, were the result of disagreement on government policy toward the Committee for Industrial Organization during the Oshawa automobile factory strike in 1937.

He said Joseph E. Atkinson, president of the Toronto Star, was present at a meeting when the Premier discussed the resignations with the ministers. There was a "sharp" difference of opinion between Mr. Atkinson and Premier Hepburn. "He supported the C.I.O. and I didn't," the Premier said.

LOUD WORDS

Mr. Hepburn added: "Mr. Atkinson said that if I continued to disagree with him on the C.I.O. question he would persecute me, attack me and never let up till he drove me from public life."

"Mr. Atkinson shouted so loud he could be heard in the outer office. He was in a terrible attitude of mind. I was amazed at the effect and that he could be in so violent a temper."

The meeting, also attended by two other cabinet ministers—Hon. Paul Leduc and Hon. Harry Nixon—took place April 9, 1937.

Contractors said materials represent about half the cost of the average home, 55 per cent of the cost of a medium-sized apartment house, and about 60 per cent of the cost of a good-sized city building.

The saving on a house of $3,500 value, will be about $122.

On the smallest type of house built in the Victoria district, the simple four-room home now costing about $1,500, the saving works out at around $52.

On a $3,000 home the saving will be a few dollars over the $100 mark.

On a $10,000 residence in the Uplands the saving should work out at around $350.

In the case of an apartment house worth $30,000 at current prices the reduction in cost would probably be near the $1,200 mark. The Surrey Block, now nearly completed at the corner of Douglas and Broughton Streets, would have cost nearly $3,500 less than the actual figure of about $80,000 if building had been delayed until this week.

Contractors seemed agreed the removal of the tax would help building, though they were not certain just how great the effect would be.

"Quite often it is the last $100 on the estimate that decides people against building," one contractor said. "I've seen several cases where $100 was the straw that broke the camel's back."

Another contractor mentioned that the saving on a $3,000 home would pay for better bathroom and kitchen fixtures.

HELPS LUMBERING

OTTAWA (CP)—Exemption of building materials from the 8 per cent sales tax, announced in the budget, is a "most excellent move," T. H. Wilkinson, secretary-manager of the British Columbia Lumber and Shingle Manufacturers' Association, Vancouver, said here today.

"It certainly should lead to the utilization of more lumber," he added.

WOULD PROTEST

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association distributed today a circular which said removal of the 8 per cent sales tax on building materials took the tax off finished products and put it on raw materials.

The British Columbia division said that under the budget brought down in the House of Commons yesterday by Finance Minister Dunning, "as it now stands," materials used in manufacturing various building products would "now be taxable at 8 per cent when bought by the manufacturers of the finished products."

"In other words, the tax has been transferred from the finished goods to the materials entering into the manufacture of these products," the circular said. "It is suggested that interested firms should without delay communicate with the Minister of Finance at Ottawa and with the member for their constituency, requesting the removal of the sales tax on raw materials used in manufacturing (building materials affected by the tax removal), if Canadian manufacturers are to be fairly treated, and if the obvious intent of assisting the building and construction industry is to be given full effect."

TORONTO—From the construction industry, through which tax removals are expected to reach the general public most effectively, came the widest acclaim for the budget. Building men saw in the government's action a positive move toward stimulating construction throughout the country.

Gordon West, Toronto, president of the Canadian Construction Council, said elimination of the sales tax from building materials "is a very constructive, long-needed move and I am sure the building trades as a whole will be delighted by this change." He estimated the sales tax cost in a building at about 4 per cent of the entire cost.

From the laborer's viewpoint came approval of A. Lyon, general secretary of the Amalgamated Building Workers of Canada, who commended the change as "a move likely to mark the beginning of the end of eight bad years for the construction workers."

E. T. Critchley, former president of the Calgary Board of Trade, looked for substantial stimulation of construction in that city provided "loan money" is made available. Acting Mayor Nixon took place April 9, 1937.

said housing plans in all cities would be aided.

P. M. Draper, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, said he had every confidence that exemption of building materials from the 8 per cent sales tax along with the government program for low cost housing loans would greatly assist the Canadian worker and lead to improvement in employment in the building trades.

He said: "The building industry is one of Canada's major industries and improvement in this industry will have widespread effects throughout the Dominion."

Contempt at U.S. Trial Alleged

New Jersey Court Asked to Rule Against Hague, Jersey City Mayor

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Morris L. Ernst, of counsel for the plaintiff Committee for Industrial Organization and American Civil Liberties Union in the Federal Court "free speech" suit against Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, asked Judge William Clark today to hold Hague in contempt for issuing a statement to the press which he had been unable to give from the witness stand.

Ernst made the contempt charge against the Democratic political chieftain at the opening of the afternoon session, stating he had learned of Hague's out-of-court statement from newsmen.

In the statement given reporters by Hague after he had left the stand this morning, the mayor accused Ernst of having been responsible for stopping a New York legislative committee from exposing radical influences in the public schools of that state.

The New York attorney, often labelled a communist by Hague, said he was not asking the court to rule on his contempt motion immediately, but stated he would file a brief in support of his motion the court take such action.

Hague started to repeat his charge against Ernst from the stand, but Judge Clark cut him off, explaining he could file briefs answering the contempt affidavits Ernst said he would file next Tuesday.

The judge said it was his understanding federal law provided for holding in contempt a witness or attorney who made an out-of-court statement intended to influence the court.

READY TO APOLOGIZE

"If I have offended the court, I want to apologize," said Hague, turning to Judge Clark and bowing his head.

"It is a serious question for the country to know how the Communist can sway that type of influence," he began, trying to repeat his charge that Ernst had blocked the New York inquiry. "You can examine me—I'm not afraid of you," Hague said as Ernst choked him off. "I have no fear when I'm taking the side of the American people."

Shortly after this surprise move Judge Clark adjourned the trial until Tuesday morning.

TORONTO (CP)—Heywood Broun, New York columnist, was re-elected president of the American Newspaper Guild by acclamation at the closing session of the fifth annual convention here today.

Jonathan Eddy, New York, was re-elected executive vice-president, defeating Julius Klyman, St. Louis, and Don Stevens, Chicago. Victor Pasche, New York, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Appointment To BBC Criticized

LONDON (CP)—The Protestant Reformation Society in its annual report today said "Protestants have viewed with increasing alarm the increasing interpenetration of the British Broadcasting Corporation by Roman Catholic influences in such key positions as deputy director and editor of the Radio Times."

The deputy director-general of the BBC, Capt. Cecil Graves, has been mentioned as a possible successor to Sir John Reith, retiring director-general.

NEW CLUE TO PLANE'S FATE

Zeballos Search Machine Lands in Open Ocean to Check Man's Story

ZEBALLOS, B.C. (CP)—Pilot Sheldon Luck of Edmonton flew south from this west coast Vancouver Island mining town today, hoping visibility would be good enough to investigate a prospector's belief the missing Ginger Coote Airways seaplane crashed in the woods near Muchalat Inlet.

Yesterday Luck was turned back on two separate flights by poor visibility along the route Pilot Len Waagen was supposed to have taken between Vancouver and Zeballos May 27. With Waagen when his big yellow machine disappeared were three passengers—Mrs. George Nicholson of Zeballos, Charles R. Rumsey of Toronto and H. Boyd of Stevenson, B.C.

Flying with Pilot Luck yesterday on his fruitless search flights was Elaine Roberge of Vancouver, one of the four Canadian women to hold a commercial pilot's license.

ALIGHT ON OCEAN

They landed at Muchalat Arm to get a statement from Joseph Jackson, a prospector who reported he had seen the missing craft on the day it disappeared. He had left Muchalat, but they flew south along the coast until they overtook his motor launch. Alighting in the open Pacific, the flyers were told by Jackson that he thought there was something wrong with the motor of a yellow plane which flew along the shore of Muchalat Inlet May 27. The plane circled back, very low, and flew directly over him. He heard the motor for five minutes and then it stopped.

"I have so much confidence that the plane is between Danzig Mine and my place (both near Muchalat Inlet) that I have made five trips into the woods looking for it," Jackson said.

Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, said today the youth council's survey of sit-downers showing that 88 per cent of them have been in British Columbia for three years or more was an obvious argument for the government's claim that single men should be able to take care of themselves.

While not accepting the survey fully, Mr. Pearson said it showed that only 100 or so of the men in the Vancouver Post Office and Art Gallery were transients.

"This whole affair started," he said, "because the government insisted that 1,600 prairie men from the winter camps should return to their home provinces. The youth council says there are only 100 in the Vancouver buildings. What then has happened to the other 1,500. Can we not presume they are taking care of themselves? If they have been able to, surely there are opportunities for another 400 or 500.

But men can't get jobs sitting in the post office. Our relief records indicate that between 15,000 and 20,000 seasonal jobs open up in British Columbia every summer.

"I can say frankly that this thing in Vancouver is an organized attempt to force the government to establish permanent relief works."

Ottawa Renews Loan To B.C.

Dominion Government Also Agrees With Projects For Homeless Unemployed

OTTAWA (CP)—A $2,334,000 loan advanced by the Dominion to British Columbia last July has been renewed for another year, according to a return tabled by Finance Minister Dunning in the House of Commons today. The money was loaned under authority of the Dominion's unemployment relief legislation.

The Dominion Government also has agreed with projects undertaken in April by British Columbia to give employment to single, homeless unemployed men.

These projects had expired at the end of the fiscal year, last March 31, but some were continued into April. The sum involved was not stated.

WENT TO OTTAWA
When it agreed Attorney-General Wismer carried a protest to the Supreme Court of Canada at Ottawa. While he was there Clement Carmichael, Macchione's counsel, discovered an apparent discrepancy in the stenographic copies of the second trial judge's charge to the jury.

He asked the Appeal Court to reopen its hearing on Macchione's second appeal. The court agreed, but death had intervened and left it powerless to implement the order.

Mr. Justice McPhillips, one of the judges who had heard the appeal, was dead, creating what Chief Justice Archer Martin of the Court of Appeal called a situation "so extraordinary it has never occurred before in the history of this province."

Both Mr. Wismer and Mr. Carmichael dropped their individual actions in the case, and Vincent Macchione went on trial here for the third time on the charge of murdering Michael Hudeck.

Trade Concessions Are Discussed

LONDON (CP-Havas)—Possibility of Australian-United States trade concessions within the framework of an Anglo-American trade treaty was believed to have been discussed today by United Kingdom ministers and Australian trade delegates now in London.

SPAIN PORT IS AGAIN RAIDED

Franco Fliers Kill 12 at Alicante; Rebel Land Forces Slowed Down

VLENCTIA, Spain (CP-Havas)—Insurgent planes bombed Alicante today, killing 12 and wounding 27.

The raid was carried out by six tri-motored bombers, which dropped about 60 bombs on Alicante and its environs. Several homes were destroyed. Anti-aircraft fire prevented the planes from flying over the city's centre.

SLOWED DOWN

HENDAYE (AP)—Insurgent General Franco's drive down Spain's eastern coast against Valencia was slowed today by stiffened government resistance south of the Mijares River.

Government advisers said defence forces had counter-attacked against the insurgents about 35 miles north of Valencia and recaptured the village of Villarreal, south of the river, after desperate

The government massed all available men and munitions in the sector to stem the insurgent tide and placed its armies under the unified command of Colonel Hipolito Menendez, promoted yesterday to command the government's eastern group of armies.

The vast concentration, however, weakened government forces on other fronts.

SAYS TRAGEDY EVER PRESENT

Tragic Element in Life Is Subject of Dean Spencer
Elliott at Rotary Luncheon

There is more often than not a tragic element in life due either to faults of goodness; but it is common to everyone, said Dean Spencer Elliott in a luncheon address to the Rotary Club in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Dean Elliott's address was entitled "The Tragic Element in Life," and in it he dealt with the various forms of tragedy illustrated in the works of great writers.

Aristotle had considered a dramatic tragedy must be a hero with a fault which the speaker likened to a perfect diamond with a flaw in it. This idea had been carried out in Shakespeare's great tragedies of "Macbeth,"
"Hamlet," "Othello" and "Julius Caesar."

In each instance the heroes had faults and although they were the subject of great regard their weaknesses developed a tragic situation which was followed by the inevitable catastrophe.

Tragedy often came from people's goodness as in the case of martyrs whose ideals caused them great falls when tragedy struck. Other tragedies resulted from conflicting loyalties, the speaker humorously illustrating this with the instance of a man divided in his loyalty between his wife and mother-in-law.

The suffering of the innocent through the faults of others also produced another of life's tragedies as illustrated by Cordelia in Shakespeare's "King Lear."

Through the whole tragedy,
however, there was a master purpose on the side of right and Dean Elliott's own view was that people never saw the whole thing unless they viewed this life as part of a larger scheme or the arc of a circle which would in the ultimate end be completed
as a perfect round.

T. J. Goodlake introduced the speaker and Col. H. E. Goodman expressed the vote of thanks.

OAK BAY WILL RAISE VALUES

First steps towards the development of a new residential area for families of moderate income were taken by the Oak Bay Council at its meeting yesterday evening.

The council approved recommendations of its lands committee for general improvement of the district at one time known as Cadboro Heights, bounded on the north by the Uplands, on the west by Cadboro Bay Road and on the east by the Uplands street car line. Action voted by the council included the following points:

(1) The placing of a $3,500-minimum-cost building restriction on all the 108 municipally-owned lots in the district, with the exception of those fronting on Heron and Musgrave Streets, where the minimum is to be $3,000.

(2) Withholding from sale for an indefinite time all lots on Dunlevy Street, Musgrave Street
north of Burdick, and Dewdney Avenue. Those streets are unpaved and not provided with drainage facilities.

(3) Redivision of a number of lots to provide bigger frontages, generally by making two 75-foot lots out of three of the existing 50-foot lots.

(4) Reservation of triangular areas at a number of street junctions to provide for widening and better alignment.

The council received and filed without comment a letter from its solicitors saying the City of Victoria's case against the municipality over water rates had been postponed until after the long vacation.

Work will be carried out on Cardigan Road in the Uplands to abate a dust nuisance which brought a complaint from E. H.
M. Foot, a resident of the district.

Offers of $213 for a lot on Hattie Street from Hubert Thorne and of $360 plus taxes for a lot on St. Patrick Street were accepted by the council.

A. F. Mitchell was appointed to supervise the contract work in the municipality's road construction program, starting July 1, at a salary of $6 per day.

FOREST FIRE TOLL MOUNTS

Higher Humidity Promises
Relief But More Hot Weather Coming

British Columbia's forest fire fighters scanned cloudy skies today hoping for some relief from the hazardous conditions of recent weeks, but weather forecasts indicated a return of warmer conditions for the weekend.

The fire situation was helped by higher humidity, lower temperatures and light, though scattered, showers in some parts of the province.

Meanwhile the forest toll of the drought spell was mounting.
In its weekly bulletin today the B.C. forest branch reported 478 fires for the season so far, as compared with 351 last year and 361 the year before.

There were 104 new outbreaks last week and 57 fires were still burning.

"Dry, hazardous conditions are aggravated throughout the province by high winds, and in some parts the hazard is reported as acute," says the official summary. "Constant care must be exercised in all activities or recreation in the woods."

GUNNERS TO GO UNDER CANVAS

With 12 days under canvas ahead of them, 200 men of the Fifth (B.C.) Coast Brigade, Royal Canadian Artillery, will parade at Fort Macaulay, Esquimalt, at 10.30 Sunday morning for the unit's annual camp.

In previous years the unit has held its camp training only in the evenings, so that members could be at their jobs during the day.
This year, largely through the work of the national defence committee of the Chamber of Commerce, arrangements have been made with employers to give the men the two weeks' free time so that training can be continuous.

According to an officer of the unit the employers have responded well to the appeal, in some cases giving the men the two weeks with pay in addition to their regular holidays.

Apart from the more complete training made possible, the camp will be a better one militarily because of the larger attendance.
This year's figure of about 200 officers and men compares with 125 last year.

There will be a muster parade
on Sunday morning at 11.30, followed by a free afternoon. Starting on Monday the gunners will have seven hours of varied training ahead of them each day.

FIRING PRACTICE

On Sunday, June 26, there will be a church parade and sports day, and the second week of camp will see firing practice by 12-pounder, six-inch, 9.2 and anti-aircraft batteries. The 9.2's will fire sub-calibre. Using full charges, the big guns would shatter most of the windows in Esquimalt.

A number of social events have been planned for the camp, including smokers and a display of movies showing the game of British Columbia, arranged by the B.C. Game Board.

The camp will be under the command of Lieut.-Colonel Vincent McKenna, M.C., officer commanding the brigade.

Victoria's only militia infantry
unit, the First Battalion Canadian Scottish Regiment, will go under canvas at Sidney on July 17. Vancouver infantry units and the Rocky Mountain Rangers from the interior of the province will also take part.

Machine gun units, including the Second Battalion (M.G.)
Canadian Scottish, will go under canvas at Heals Rifle Range a week later, on July 24.

Mr. Dunning's Fine Showing

TO THE HOUSE OF COMMONS YESTERDAY, Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, presented the most satisfactory budget since he brought down his first financial statement in the same Chamber on May 1, 1930. Last year he estimated a deficit for the 1937-1938 fiscal period ending March 31 last amounting to $35,000,000. His latest statement showed that he had been pessimistic to the extent of a little more than $21,000,000. The actual balance on the wrong side of the ledger was $13,775,000. Eight years ago he met the House with a surplus of $44,507,000, an aggregate external trade turnover of $2,368,531,884, a sales tax reduced to 1 per cent, and with the comforting fact that in the previous five years surplus revenues had reduced the national debt by $257,800,000.

Three months after Mr. Dunning's first federal budget, however, the people of Canada were given an opportunity to pass judgment on the King government's record in general and its latest financial statement in particular. They decided, in their wisdom, that they would like a change, a ministry which Mr. Bennett would lead. Their decision was reached after careful consideration of a catalogue of alluring promises which bespoke an era in which unemployment—then relatively insignificant—soon would be but a memory, and the land in very fact would be flowing with milk and honey. Yet the records show that when Hon. Edgar Rhodes, then Minister of Finance in the Conservative regime, met the House with his financial statement on March 21, 1933—two and a half years of the administration the electorate had chosen in 1930—the surplus had vanished almost completely, external business of the country had dwindled to $887,000,000, unemployment had increased six-fold, the sales tax stood at 6 per cent, and the general economic outlook was about as drab as it could be. In the last fiscal period under that government, by the way, the deficit had grown to $159,000,000. After the first full business year of the King administration—1936-1937—however, it had been reduced to $87,000,000, and, as already mentioned, when the books closed on March 31 last a still further substantial reduction had brought the deficit balance down to $13,775,000.

It would be unfair and not in accordance with the facts to place all the blame for the strikingly altered condition on the fiscal and other policies with which Mr. Bennett and his followers implemented their promises to the electorate; but the official statistics remain on the records to prove that the people who had expected much more than they had been getting from the government up till the summer of 1930 were sadly disillusioned in those 30 months which had elapsed since they last marked their ballots for a new Parliament. And we are too near the events of 1935 to make necessary any extended reference to the overwhelming defeat which the electors meted out to the Conservative administration in the late fall of that year.

After Mr. Dunning had gathered up the financial reins in the department which he was compelled to leave in 1930 he soon began to feel the effects of the government's policies generally. The budgets of 1936 and 1937 were of a considerably different character from those which had immediately preceded them. A return to more elastic trading policies was reflected in the outflow and inflow of commodities from all parts of the world—and particularly did the commercial exchange between this country and the neighboring republic grow—with the result that by the beginning of this year the Dominion's external business was worth approximately $2,000,000,000. As world conditions fluctuate, of course, so will this business. But Canada's progress since 1935 has been such as to give Mr. Dunning every justification for saying, as he did yesterday, that the country will be able to meet such economic vicissitudes as may confront it as the international barometer of commerce wavers from time to time.

Whither Poland

POLAND IS ONE OF THE MOST UNCERTAIN factors in European politics. Nobody outside the small circle of ruling Polish generals and politicians is in a position to say with assurance on which side of the fence the Republic would be found in a conflict between the democratic and Fascist nations. Several months ago there were indications of a rapprochement between Warsaw and Paris. Then Foreign Minister Colonel Beck started his series of visits to Berlin and the Polish-French line-up looked like a thing of the past. Then developments in Czechoslovakia, with Berlin supporting the demand for autonomy for the Polish minority, dictated the foreign orientation of Warsaw until recently Nazi complaints regarding Poland's treatment of her German minority makes one wonder what it is all about.

One thing is certain, however, Nazi agitation within Poland is making big strides with little regard for the national feelings of the Polish majority. Several weeks ago German minority leaders in Poland decided to form a single united party of all Germans living in Polish territory with the motto "One German nation, one party and one leader." The new party declared it aims at controlling the life and activities of all Germans in Poland, and instilling in them the principles of national Socialism. Warsaw did not like the idea of a "state within the state" but Berlin told her that these Germans would support their country as true patriots and she subsided.

Nevertheless the Polish government regrets its indulgence of an agitation which, in the last analysis, is aimed at the separation of her German minorities. A few days ago German Nazis announced 63 meetings to be held within a week in the small towns and villages of German-Poland. Speakers from the Reich will address most of them, though a feeble attempt had been made to suppress this mass organization effort. The authorities confiscated a large number of maps recently made in Germany, which showed Poznan as "Provinz Posen" and Pomorze as "Provinz Westpreussen" of the German Reich. The Young Germans, the thinly disguised Nazi Young People's groups, which distributed this anti-Polish propaganda, demanded the return of "their property" in vain. Things have gone so far that two Polish senators, Wiesner and Hasbach, are both eager to become Fuehrer of Poland's Germans, or, at least, to fill a role similar to that assumed by Henlein in Czechoslovakia.

In John Howard's Name

NOTICE OF THE ANNUAL MEETING of the Victoria branch of the John Howard Society at 8 o'clock tonight in the Y.W.C.A. hall, brings to mind the work of the organization in combining here the functions of the Prisoners' Aid Societies and the Howard League for Penal Reform in England. The British Columbia society attempts to befriend individual prisoners undergoing sentence and after discharge, with a view to their moral and economic rehabilitation. It aims at winning public and official interest in desirable penal reforms.

In this provincial work the Victoria branch co-operates with the main office near the prisons on the mainland. It is consulted here by local relatives of prisoners, and by ex-prisoners living in or coming to Victoria. It co-operates in saving prospective criminals from becoming confirmed. Its work has been largely ameliorative, mitigating the effects of bad or broken homes, inadequate schooling, poverty, with its denial of life's amenities, unfortunate heredity and of bad associations during imprisonment. The branch also saves kind persons from indiscriminate philanthropies by investigating appeals and fitting treatment to the facts of the case. Its workers are voluntary and it makes no heavy drain upon the Community Chest.

On the side of penal reform, the local branch has interested itself in a better treatment of youthful offenders than by confining them to ordinary prisons. It assembled a widely representative deputation to co-operate with its mainland office in urging the government to introduce the Borstal system here. The result, a first step in the right direction, we see in the new institution at Burnaby. It has also won official promise of reform of the penalties for drunkenness in a public place, has considered other cases which law or custom seems to call for revision.

NO LONGER TRUE IN CANADA

From Ottawa Journal

As schoolboys all of us were taught that magnificent passage from Pitt: "The poorest man may in his cottage bid defiance to all the forces of the Crown. It may be frail; its roof may shake; the wind may blow through it; the storms may enter—but the King of England cannot enter; all his forces dare not cross the threshold of the ruined tenement."

That still may be true of England; it is no longer true of Canada. We have the Padlock Law of Quebec, under which neither the poorest man in his cottage nor the rich man in his mansion is safe from a "Red-baiting" bureaucracy; now, in the Northwest Territories, we are to have a law, written by a government which calls itself Liberal, giving authority to search any man's house without a warrant. Said Senator Meighen of this law:

"I am almost afraid to say it, but I think this law is opposed to the principles of Liberalism. . . . It is just an exemplification of the attitude of mind that always grows under the public official. The government gives authority to search any man's house without a warrant. . . . It is a padlock law that takes all the medals, belts and records."

But Senator Meighen knows the background, history and tradition of British liberty; knows the tremendous safeguards Englishmen have built to protect freedom from autocracy. The pity is that so many among us are less well informed, less vigilant for the British heritage. Giving lip-loyalty to freedom, they do increasing violence to it as time goes on.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

CARIBOO VISITOR

A FRIEND OF MINE was down here from the central plateau of British Columbia today. He runs a dude ranch up there somewhere, and all the school teachers and pretty shop girls of Vancouver go up and help him brand cattle in the summer time, and it's getting so that his cattle, which are only kept for this purpose, are so covered with brands, like a billboard, that he can hardly find room for any more on their hides. Indeed, whenever a school teacher or a pretty shop girl approaches, the steers on the dude ranch lie down, ready for the red-hot iron. School teachers and shop girls just love to hear them sizzle and smell the curious aroma of the branding corral. The essential cruelty of the female character emerges on a dude ranch.

However, what I wanted to retail is the reaction of a British Columbian from the interior to our coastal scenery at this season. This poor cowpuncher practically broke down in tears at the sight of my little rosebuds. He said that up in his town one fellow grows bushes, or rather a rosebush, and by taking it inside during the winter and covering it with straw and keeping it near the fire, he is able to make it revive faintly in the spring. If he gets two or three blooms out of it during the summer the whole town flocks around to see this great natural wonder, and there is a proud item in the local paper about it.

And we on the coast, said the cattle man, people like me, can have all the rose blooms we want. It's an outrage, he said. Why, he said, people walk right up the Parliament Buildings driveways and never stop to look at the rosebuds at all, pass them by without seeing them. Up in the interior people work in the cold all winter, in the heat all summer, supporting the economic structure of British Columbia, he said, and they get a few cactus blooms and sunflowers on the hillsides. Down here, we hark, effortless, in the sunshine and we get roses.

The result, he said, is that people down here are soft in mind and body. And he told me that not long ago they performed a brain operation on a man up in Prince George and after the surgeon had removed the brain for observation, by some mistake, the patient was allowed to escape. He got on quite all right without his brain, my friend said. He's down in Victoria now, teaching school.

REVOLUTIONIST

UNDOUBTEDLY MY FRIEND Mr. Westby should have been in politics; in higher, revolutionary politics. He has the talent for it, the spirit for it, the urge. He would have made an ideal revolutionist, a splendid tyrant, a bloody dictator. But unfortunately Mr. Westby wasn't born in the right time or place. He was born in Esquimalt, and you can't become much of a revolutionary politician there, the riding having been tamed to Conservatism long ago by Mr. Harry Pooley, and comforted into a sublime complacency with beer while Victoria thirsts and grows radical.

I mean, you can tell that Mr. Westby has the suppressed soul of a revolutionary under his chest, the wild spirit of a Lenin or a Robespierre, the fire of a Hitler. You can tell by the way Mr. Westby paints. When Mr. Westby gets hold of some new paint up at his summer place on the lake, it is a terrible spectacle. He goes wild. All the revolutionary instincts which, under other circumstances might have made him a great and terrible figure in history, suddenly surge up and find expression through his paint brush.

I don't mean that he paints modernistic pictures and strange diseased images such as they display in art galleries nowadays and used to display in mental hospitals. I mean he paints boats and houses and steps and woodsheds. He paints anything he comes across. Give him some paint and a brush and he can't stop himself, poor fellow. When he thinks of the economic situation and the tragedy of the human family, he just rushes out and paints anything in his way in violent colors.

Last week-end he came across a tin of yellow paint, and the havoc was fearful because his mind was on Mr. Chamberlain and Czechoslovakia. You could follow a trail of yellow from the veranda through the woodshed out into the woods. There were streaks of yellow everywhere, and finally Mr. Westby, his mind on the revolution, finished the can with an artistic interior decorating job in the outhouses of his camp, with disastrous results to his guests. Nobody was warned and everybody was streaked with yellow before the weekend was over, but Mr. Westby just can't help it. He is a revolutionary who had the misfortune to be born in Esquimalt. If he can't find a revolution to absorb his genius soon, his camp at the lake will look like a rainbow gone mad.

The most surprising thing about people, when you know them well, is the simplicity of the great and the good hard sense of the humble.

The ancient moral in current history is that the fat and contented will concede almost anything to avoid conflict with a tough guy who threatens them.

OPINION ON LETTER WRITERS

Dear Editor, we wonder why you must accept and don't defy the chronic writer, awful bore. Producer of the curse and snore Every day and every week He makes press columns fairly reek With his opinions, mostly bad. Enough to make an angel mad. Now, some few letters, we admit, Are interesting and full of wit, But scarce they are and far between, Among such stuff are seldom seen. Dear Editor, kindly let them know There is a place where they can go, It's always warm, there is no snow, And known to saints as "Down Below." Oh! how I wish that they were here, That I might push them on down there. Brentwood. E. B. ANDROS.

English Countryside

By PETER STURSBURG LONDON.

ONCE YOU GET out of the cities you are in the country the poets have made famous, in the country that no Englishman can ever forget.

Away from the offices and factories, time and the march of the machine seems to have passed over this green land with its quaint villages. It is the softness of the green which strikes the Canadian, used to the harsher shades of his conifer trees.

The peacefulness of this pastoral scene is accompanied by the most perfect music. The birds seem to be constantly singing. They wake you gently in the morning, cooing down your chimney, on top of which they have built their nest. They chirrup sleepily as you go into the house at dusk. And even in the night the nightingale will serenade you if you listen for him.

In the country you go for walks, and how the Englishman loves to walk. He will take you through his forest, but you do not have to worry about breaking a trail. They are nothing more than glorious parks, with here and there clumps of great oak and elm and horse-chestnut.

When we walked through Hatfield Park, where Queen Elizabeth used to hunt, the woods were full of bluebells and the meadows were yellow with buttercups.

But not even the country can escape from the armament fever which grips England. Playing tennis in front of a rambling old home, I noticed warplanes constantly droning overhead.

When I was out for a drive one Sunday my friend took his hand off the wheel to point out something. "Isn't it ridiculous. We pay millions to make munitions and now they're burying them under the earth," he said.

He was pointing at an old quarry which was being used as a munition dump. A railway had been built out to it, and even though it was Sunday we could distinguish men working unloading freight cars. There must be hundreds of these underground dumps full of tons of explosive all over England.

The inns are really old England, and such names as the Black Lion and the Boar's Head bring to life Chaucer's tale. I was in The Hanging Bell, which was 200 years old when Chaucer was born. In its ball some young Royal Air Force men were playing darts. Their ancestors played bowls when the Spanish Armada sailed up the channel, if I know my history right.

FASCISM A DISEASE

To the Editor:—Fascism is a pathological condition, a disease of society.

Its leading symptoms are exaggerated selfishness and moral atrophy; in its more virulent phase, as in Germany, Italy and Spain, it glorifies and justifies crime. In its weaker forms, as in the British government and the majorities of the two Houses of Parliament, it appears as a complacent and selfish cowardice. But it is the same disease; and it is to be feared that a very slight change in economic conditions would produce the virulent phase even in England.

(Mrs.) ANNIE M'CORMACK.

FOR FORESTRY BOYS

To the Editor:—The Victoria Local of the Relief Project Workers' Union ask me to appeal through the medium of your paper on behalf of the men who were employed on the Forestry projects this year. The men have very little. What we want is socks, towels, soap. If the citizens of Victoria would like to donate tobacco and cigarettes it would be appreciated.

DAVID ROSS, Secretary. Relief Project Workers' Union, Victoria Local, 564 Yates Street.

CITY SCHOOL REPORT SOON

Voluminous Document On Greater Victoria System Being Printed

Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, said today the special report on the Greater Victoria school system compiled by a commission of educational experts of the province will be made public in about two weeks.

Dr. Weir said the report, a lengthy document, is now being printed and will then be placed before the provincial cabinet for perusal.

The minister said he regarded the report as a highly important document from an educational standpoint. Printing will make it available to other cities where its findings may be helpful.

A dozen school inspectors and leading experts on school matters composed the committee which analyzed the school administration of the city and surrounding districts from all angles. Inspector William Gray was chairman and Inspector H. H. McKenzie vice-chairman.

It is rumored that among other important recommendations the report suggests the amalgamation of schools in the city and districts into a Greater Victoria school unit.

Tea was served by Mesdames Austen Yates, A. F. Bayles, A. Cooper, W. H. Goodman; Miss Josephine Seabrook was in charge of the tea receipts and waist measurement; needlework stall, Mrs. H. F. Dack and Mrs. R. J. Smith; home cooking, Mrs. H. F. Dack and Mrs. A. B. Bown.

The apron contest conducted by Mrs. C. Willard was won by Mrs. M. Williams, Victoria, and the platter competition run by Mrs. J. Findley was won by Mrs. W. E. Stevenson. Housewife was supervised by Mrs. Hincks and D. B. F. Bullen. A small souvenir was presented to Mrs. Yates for her kind hospitality.

Peking Man, who lived in Chinese caves over half a million years ago, had some ape-like features, yet he could build fires and make stone tools.

Miss Bondfield Praises New Deal Experiments

British Ex-Minister of Labor Impressed With U.S. Social and Economic Policy, After Tour of That Country's Projects

"I am tremendously impressed with the way in which the people of the United States are facing up to the problems facing them today. Critics of the NRA should remember that money standards are a false standard on which to judge the success of a policy which is based upon social necessity rather than economic necessity. The various projects I saw constitute a magnificent piece of social and economic reconstruction."

Rt. Hon. Margaret Bondfield, former Minister of Labor, thus summed up her impressions of the many interesting experiments being carried out under the New Deal administration in the United States in the course of an interview with a Times representative last night.

Small of stature, with a dynamic personality radiating a vitality and enthusiasm which belies her grey hairs, Miss Bondfield's keen brown eyes lit up as she recalled some of the adventurous experiments along co-operative and community lines to change the present system of distribution and bring about a more steady level of consumption.

Incidentally, Miss Bondfield has the unique position of being the only woman Privy Councillor, and by virtue of this office is the only woman who has ever taken part in the proclamation of two kings.

CONFLICTING PHILOSOPHIES
The vitality and adventurous spirit of the American people drew her admiring comment, especially "when one considers the two conflicting philosophies which exist—an intense individualism facing a more intense form of collective capitalism than the world has ever seen," she said. But in spite of that, she saw there evidences of the beginning of a community spirit, at present in the minority, it was true, but amazing in its potential promise.

In Columbus, Ohio, she saw something of the Charter movement which has directed its efforts to the cleaning up and establishing of good government in that city. She attended a conference held at the Y.W.C.A. in that city, under which 2,000 people, representative of industrial, agricultural, household and other occupations, met to consider ways of facing up to the various social and economic problems and was amazed at their grasp of the situation.

The T.V.A. experiment evoked her admiration by its success in bringing back new life to a devastated area, as was evident in the Hiwassee dam project, with its new and well-planned township and interesting housing experiments.

PRaises MISS PERKINS
Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins is doing a fine job, in the opinion of Miss Bondfield who is an old friend of the U.S. minister and visited her at Washington, where she was able to observe the administration of the New Deal from the inside.

In Chicago the WPA (Works Project Administration) play, "Pins and Needles," written and presented by unemployed impressed her by its vitality, originality, and the finish of its production.

BRITISH EXPERIMENT

In answer to a question as to the unemployment problem in England, Miss Bondfield stated that the manufacture of armaments was absorbing many, and relieving the pressure to a great extent. She spoke of the interest being taken by the British Trade Union Congress in the problem of the domestic servant, and the suggested charter, governing hours and wages which has been drawn up after conferences between mistresses, maids and representatives of the general public, in an effort to improve conditions for this class of labor.

With a view to learning something of Canada's approach to social problems, Miss Bondfield will attend the Canadian Conference on Social Work to be held in Vancouver from June 21 to 23, and will also attend the social welfare conference later in Seattle, before proceeding south to California and as far as Mexico.

All bills were ordered paid and the treasurer gave a very satisfactory report of the W.A. finances. New cretonne will be purchased for the bookcases, presumably later on in the year. Women's Golf Champ Beaten

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

JOE LOUIS may well be the victim of fighting styles in his matches with Max Schmeling. Max Baer stopped Schmeling. Louis knocked out Baer. Schmeling knocked out Louis. Fighting largely is a matter of styles. The history of all sports is full of cases where rather ordinary athletes have had the Indian sign on opponents apparently their superiors.

Louis may be able to belt out fellows who would stir up plenty of trouble for Schmeling, yet it may turn out that the Brown Bomber is tailor-made for the German's right-hand smash. "Bend to the right and keep your chin down," the late Tom O'Rourke told Schmeling, prior to his first fight with Louis two summers back.

Schmeling did just that, and Louis was like a novice. "He fought me sideways," explained the negro youth after the German had so surprisingly dealt him a savage beating and his first knockout. And there is evidence the Schmeling camp is less worried than Louis' about the encore at the Yankee Stadium next Wednesday evening.

Here are some of the latest odd twists on next week's heavy-weight fight as penned by Eddie Briez, New York scribe: Speculators in New York are asking and getting $100 per copy for Schmeling-Louis ringides originally priced at $30. You can't buy duets inside the 30th row at any of the "legitimate" box offices. Biggest buyer to date is publisher Annenberg of the Philadelphia Inquirer. He went for $12,000 worth, which indicates he intends to throw a real party. Interest is at a high pitch and the bout can't miss grossing a million.

A pool appeared on Broadway Wednesday offering 5 to 1 against Louis scoring a knockout in the first three rounds; 4 to 1 against the champion doing it in the next six; 5 to 1 against his ending it in the 10th, 11th or 12th, and 6 to 1 against his stopping the challenger in the last three heats. Odds against Schmeling stopping Joe are 8 to 1 for the first three; 6 to 1 in the fourth, fifth or sixth, and 5 to 1 he doesn't end it in the next six. It is 6 to 1 that Max doesn't finish Joe in the last three.

Odds are the team of Max Schmeling and Joe Jacobs will break up after Wednesday's fight. The reason Max Baer is laughing off offers to fight Bob Pastor on the Pacific Coast is that he is No. 1 man to fight the Louis-Schmeling winner.

Another American League cast-off who is making good in the National League baseball campaign. Debs Garms, released in 1935 as an outfielder by the St. Louis Browns, is the star third baseman of the Boston Bees. He is fielding well and one of the club's leading hitters. Garms attributes his comeback to the switch to the infield. "You get a lot more action," he says. "You're right in there where things are happening. It makes you feel more like you're in the game."

Two extra-set matches in the men's singles were witnessed in the championship tourney of the C.P.R. Tennis Club yesterday. Reg. Misses Helen Baillies and Helen Peden, defending champions in the women's doubles, reached the final by their victory over Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Stewart 6-3, 6-2.

Other results follow:

WOMEN'S DOUBLES

Peggy Hodgson Defeats Mary Mackenzie-Grieve in City

Mrs. E. Jackson, Uplands, and Miss Peggy Hodgson, Colwood, matched-strokes over 18 holes at the Victoria Golf Club this afternoon for possession of the women's city championship. In the semi-finals yesterday, Mrs. Jackson, tournament medalist, eliminated Mrs. Hew Paterson, Oak Bay, 5 and 3, and Miss Hodgson came through with a 3 and 2 triumph over Miss Mary Mackenzie-Grieve, Uplands, defending titleholder.

Grabbing the first three holes of the match, Miss Hodgson stole a march on the champion and never relinquished her lead until the finish on the 16th green. The Colwood player, long a strong entry in local tournaments, but never a winner, was hitting the ball well and was especially deadly on the greens. Miss Mackenzie-Grieve, fighting to win the crown for the third straight year, experienced an off day. Usually steady from tee to green, the champion found herself in trouble on many holes. Rated a first-class putter, Miss Mackenzie-Grieve was without that touch and as a result three-putt greens were her downfall on several occasions.

GAME FIGHT

After dropping three straight holes Miss Mackenzie-Grieve made a gallant comeback. She won the fourth when Miss Hodgson three-putted, and reduced the lead to a single hole when the Colwood girl pushed her second shot at the fifth into the bushes and picked up, Miss Mackenzie-Grieve winning with a four. At the sixth the champion put her second into the rocks and finally picked up to go two down again.

The seventh was halved in five, with Miss Mackenzie-Grieve taking the eighth with a four. The ninth was split in par three, leaving Miss Hodgson one up at the turn.

Miss Hodgson went two up at the 10th when Miss Mackenzie-Grieve three-putted. The next four holes were halved in 5, 6, 3, 3. At the 15th Miss Mackenzie-Grieve pulled her second to the left but the ball struck a tree and rebounded onto the fairway, while Miss Hodgson was in the rough. Both were on the green in three, and Miss Hodgson got down in two putts to win when her opponent again needed the extra one. Miss Hodgson was down three, and the match ended when the 16th was halved in par fours.

Displaying the same game that carried her to the B.C. championship over the same course last year, Mrs. Jackson stroked her way to a fine victory over Mrs. Paterson. Firing two pars and a birdie on the first three holes the Uplands star was three up. Mrs. Paterson won the fourth with a par five to a six, and the fifth was halved. Another par four gave Mrs. Jackson the sixth, while the seventh and eighth were split. At the ninth the medalist rammed home another par three to win and be four up at the halfway mark.

Continuing her championship form Mrs. Jackson took the 10th with a par four. The 11th, 12th (Turn to Page 15, Col. 3)

Giants and Cubs Are Dropping Off

Leading Clubs in National League Baseball Showing Signs of Wear

The way Bill Terry's New York Giants and Charlie Grimm's Chicago Cubs have been showing signs of hitting the skids, off and on, for no reason at all, things may yet start to pop in that two-hoss National League baseball race.

The rude Reds from Cincinnati and Pie Traynor's rejuvenated Pittsburgh Pirates are virtually tied for their place today, just three games back of the Cubs, and only four and a half out of the top. The Giants have won only seven of their last 37 games, and the Cubs have taken two out of seven.

The Pirates' rookie Bob Klinger skyrocketed into the league pitching lead by handuffing the Giants with five hits yesterday for his third victory in a row, and his fifth against one setback for the year. It was the second straight loss for Carl Hubbell.

While that defeat shaved the Giants' National League lead to one and a half games, the American League race remained a neck-and-neck struggle between the New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians. The Tribe continued half-a-game in front by whipping Washington 4 to 1, on Bobby Feller's eight-hit elbowed. Monte Pearson and Bump Hadley combined in a one-hit performance.

Doug Cameron Is Eliminated

BROOKLINE, Mass. — Doug Cameron of Vancouver became the second Canadian Davis Cup casualty in the Massachusetts men's singles tennis tournament yesterday when he was beaten by unseeded John M. Anderson, New York, 6-1, 7-5, in a quarter-finals match at Longwood.

Ross Wilson of Toronto, the other Canadian entry, was eliminated Wednesday.

Burns Nine Make It Seven Straight

Blank Longshoremen 8 to 0 in A Section Softball; Camerons Just Win

Burns softballers continued their victory march in the A section yesterday evening when they blanked the Longshoremen, 8 to 0, at the Athletic Park. It was the seventh straight win for the Burns boys since the start of their great comeback campaign three weeks ago and they are now only half a game behind Camerons, the leaders.

The most keenly-fought A battle of the evening saw the section-leading lumbermen score a 4 to 3 triumph over Hollywood Club at Hollywood Park. At Hampton Road, MacDonalds checked in with a 12 to 5 verdict over Saanich.

Husky Bill Tesky, 220-pound ace twirler for the Longshoremen, and his teammates bumped into plenty of trouble at the hands of Burns batsmen, who practically gained their win through a series of well-placed bunts. They also did some smart base-running and were aided by costly boots on the part of the freight jugglers.

At times during the evening the Longshoremen looked dangerous, but Lloyd Jones, Burns moundman, did a good job of hurling and was given good support. Seven hits were collected by both sides, with the winners clouting hits when they were needed most.

Score by innings: R. V.I.A. 00000000-0 Burns 01030004-8 Batteries—Tesky and Dunnett, Knapp; Jones and Caddell.

CAMERONS WIN

Cameron ball-tossers cut short a Hollywood Club eighth-inning rally to pull out with a slim 4 to 3 verdict. The clubmen were trailing by three markers going into the eighth and managed to send two runners around the sacks before the lumbermen ended the rally.

Score by innings: R. Camerons 011000020-4 Hollywood 000100020-3 Batteries—Johnston and Harris; Carr and Berry. MacDonalds set up a 3 to 2 lead in the first frame in their battle with Saanich and stayed on top all evening, climaxing their sessions at bat with a five-run attack in the ninth. Booth started on the mound for the suburban team but he was replaced by Ono when opposing batters started to get to his offerings. Ray Byers stayed on the hillock all evening for MacDonalds.

Score by innings: R. Saanich 201000200-5 MacDonalds 301110015-12 Batteries—Booth, Ono and Bailey; Byers and Lines, Gray.

VANCOUVER — Stan Patrick, Vancouver fight promoter, yesterday announced he had signed Rex Carey of Victoria, member of Canada's boxing team at the British Empire Games this year, to fight here June 22 on the Billy Buxton-Al Spina card. Patrick said he had not yet decided on an opponent for the Victoria fighter.

Louis Plan of Battle Worries Wise Boys

JAMES BAY IN OVERTIME WIN

Nose Out Oakland's 12 to 11 in Hard-fought Senior B Boxla Battle

With the game in the second half of the overtime session, Melvin Clanton, speedy right home player, sagged the hemp for the odd goal in 23 to give Manager Bert Buller's James Bay box lacrosse squad a 12 to 11 decision over Oakland's yesterday evening at Beacon Hill Park.

A large crowd of supporters turned out to watch the nip-and-tuck struggle between the two toughest squads in the senior B loop.

The first hour of play was in its dying minutes when curly-haired Henry Cockin, Bays rover, sank a shot to throw the score into a 11 to 11 clinch and in the extra session Clanton provided the winning touches for Buller's boys when he burned in a hot shot past Goalie Ackerley.

OAKLANDS LEADS

Oaklands advanced into the lead early in the first session when Chuck Chapman and Doug Bray got shots in behind Gawley, but Bill Slater tallied to slice the Oakland lead to one at the end of this period of play. Led by Plater, who notched three goals, the Bays hit their stride in the next stanza and slapped in four goals to their opponents' one. McDonald got the other one for the eventual winners and Bray got Oakland's single.

The tide of play switched back in favor of Oakland's in the third quarter when the losers scored five tallies to the Bays' two. Chuck Chapman accounted for two and Art Chapman, Williams and Clanton notched for the Bays.

With the score standing 8 to 7 in favor of Oakland's going into the fourth period, Bays scored four goals and Oakland's three in this session to leave the score deadlocked at the whistle. Plater got two for the Bays and Cockin and Brown scored one each. Doug Bray and Noel accounted for the opposition's goals.

Popham and Ditchburn refereed.

Teams follow:
James Bay—Gawley, Chisholm, Cockin, Carney, Lannigan, Brown, Plater, Langdon, Ferguson, McDonald, Clanton, Doherty, Smith and Macdonald.

Oaklands—Ackerley, C. Chapman, Pickford, A. Chapman, Williams, Bray, Noel, Price, Wallace, McMillan, Merriman, Billsborough and Alexander.

Guldahl Has 65 In Brilliant Victory

Smashes Par by Six Strokes to Win Western Open Golf For Third Time

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Big Ralph Guldahl yesterday won the western open golf championship for the third successive year with a 72-hole score of 279. He is the first golfer to win the 38-year-old event three times in a row.

Guldahl, who last week won his second straight United States open title, turned in rounds of 71, 63, 70 and 65 in achieving the victory.

From the first round, when the stern Westwood par 71 defied all others, the champion fought off challenge after challenge. He held a one-stroke lead at the

Louis in Shape, Says Dempsey

POMPTON LAKES, N.J.—Jack Dempsey, No. 1 man of the road company of ex-champions now touring the training camps, has put the seal of approval on Joe Louis' physical shape.

Jack watched the negro champion work four fast rounds yesterday and then announced Joe was in "mighty good shape." He also said it would be a whale of a fight.

DOUBLE BILL THIS EVENING

Baseball and Box Lacrosse Games Scheduled at Athletic Park

At the Athletic Park this evening there will be attractions for both baseball and box lacrosse fans.

On the diamond directly in front of the grandstand Pitzer and Nex and Victoria Baseball Club nines in the Victoria Baseball Association will see action, while in the box at the east end, of the enclosure Bluebirds and James Bay intermediate boxla squads will tangle. Both games start at 6.15.

The baseball nines are pretty evenly matched, the clubmen being just half a game behind the leading Pitzer and Nex squad.

The Bluebirds-James Bay boxla battle has all the earmarks of being the snappiest scrap of the season in that division. Both have been undefeated in their last four starts, and are now bracketed in the top berth. Ditchburn and Popham will referee.

It was reported late today that the Eagles and Navy baseball nines will play tomorrow afternoon at the Athletic Park at 2.30. Another boxla game is scheduled for this evening. It will bring together Conservatives and Victoria Indians in a senior B match in the Beacon Hill Park box. Chapman and Ross will referee.

It was reported last night by the Victoria Box Lacrosse Commission that Oakland's intermediates have withdrawn from that section. The players, however, have been absorbed by other clubs.

Knockout Cricket Series Will Open

Cricketers will open play in the annual knockout series tomorrow afternoon with a pair of matches Incogs will travel up-island to engage Cowichan while the Five C's and Victoria will clash at Beacon Hill.

In a friendly fixture Victoria B will oppose the Albions at MacDonald Park.

Matches start at 2.30. The Five C's team will be as follows: E. Quinton, G. Payne, A. Griffin, P. C. Payne, G. Hepworth, McIlvenny, T. Peers, Edwards, Attwell, Comley, G. Petch and Yoxall.

Change Drivers For Auto Races

Jack Taylor, manager of the Langford Speedway, today announced two changes in the roster of United States drivers who will be here for the auto race meet tomorrow evening at the local track, starting at 7.45.

Adolph Danz and Wes Moore, holder of the track record, will come over from Seattle in place of Lew McMurtry and Stan Mahoney. The two last named drivers have been having trouble with their cars and were unable to get them in shape to make the Victoria trip.

Boxla Meeting Called Tonight

To select an all-star Victoria team to play at Nanaimo on July 2 a meeting of the managers of the senior box lacrosse teams and referees will be held tonight at 8.30, in the office of W. C. Moresby, K.C.

Champion To Fight On His Own

Managers and Trainers Will Not Advise Negro on How to Whip Schmeling

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK—Jack Blackburn, having tried for a solid month to make a rip-tearing fighter out of champion Joe Louis, and with some success, has taken off the pressure and has told Joe to go ahead and make his own kind of fight against Max Schmeling next Wednesday.

At yesterday's workout at Pompton Lakes, the negro trainer told Joe: "All right, chappie, I've taught you all I know how. From now on you must fight the best you know how, and that'll be good enough."

That is as much as anybody knows about the sort of battle the big amber-colored boy will wage against the cool veteran who knocked him out two Junes ago.

Joe himself still says stoutly he is going to wade into "Smelling" from the first bell and knock him kicking, no matter how many times he gets cracked by the German's right hand in the process. Now that Joe has committed himself, it seems to delight in saying it again. One of his managers, suave John Roxborough, assures you, too, that Louis will sail out and wrap his man up within two or three rounds.

"I know it's a new way for Joe to fight," Roxborough concedes, "but that's what he will do."

On the other hand, Julian Black, as much manager as Roxborough, talks more temperately. After watching Joe fight all sorts of ways yesterday, he pointed out that "Joe, if he wants to, can cut Schmeling to pieces with his left."

EXPERTS MYSTIFIED

The so-called experts, are, if anything, more mystified than usual. After the champion's workouts it is interesting to watch 20 or 30 of them get together and try to interview each other. Yesterday a group of them got old Johnny Dundee cornered and nearly questioned his cauliflower ears off until he finally confessed that he thought Louis had a good left.

The reason everybody is trying to figure out Louis' plan of battle is some of the experts think it could make a big difference in the outcome. Some are certain Schmeling will knock the champ flatter than neglected beer if Joe tries to force the pace. They say the bookmakers would not be laying 11 to 5 odds on Louis if they thought Joe intended to do anything as foolish as that.

Louis is looking much keener than he did a week ago. He is hitting sharper and harder. He appears, in fact, to be at the near peak of condition that Schmeling reached perhaps a little too soon. Louis is looking slimmer than in his early days. He is more than an inch taller than when he fought Schmeling before. Also, he has a hard look in his eyes now when he gets tagged, replacing the confused expression he used to wear in his moments of travail.

The closing days of training are at hand as the advance sale soars toward the $600,000 mark. Louis will conclude his heavy work tomorrow and Sunday, while Schmeling will continue to box through Monday. Tuesday there is to be a special meeting of the athletic commission to smooth out the details.

Started Fire That Levelled Vancouver

Island Man Tells of Blaze That Destroyed City 52 Years Ago

George H. Keefer, who says he started, accidentally, the fire that destroyed Vancouver on June 13, 1886, has written a biography which, he says, contains the true story of the Vancouver fire.

Now 73 years old, Mr. Keefer lives near Cobble Hill.

Mr. Keefer had a contract for slashing the timber on the Brighouse Estate, now known as the West End of Vancouver, at the time of the fire.

He had hired some Indians to do the work and found a spot on English Bay, near a trickling stream, for their camp.

"There was some dry brush which I thought might be a fire menace to the Indians, so, while the two Johns (his partner and his brother) were skipping stones on the calm waters of English Bay, I set fire to this brush to clean it up," said Mr. Keefer.

"After this we went on to the camp at Stanley Park and had our dinner. While we were at dinner the cook came in and asked: 'Did any of you fellows set a fire along the beach?' I said, 'Yes, I did.' 'Well,' says the cook, 'come and look at it now.'"

"We three got up from the table and went to look. Good heavens! The fire had got into the new slashing that the white men had been doing. At the same time a good stiff breeze got up on English Bay, blowing towards town, and it was increasing every minute.

"The fire had a start that was beyond anything we could do. We could only stand and look at it. And I will tell you I never in all my experience saw a forest fire gain such force and velocity; it was terrible to look at, and especially knowing that I had set it and that a thriving young city was right in front of it. The fire spread and got higher and higher. You could hear the timber fairly whining as the flames and smoke rolled up and onward.

"We watched the fire with fear and trembling all afternoon, and only when the sun went down and the wind with it were we able to get back to the city—or the place where the city was.

"We followed the Coal Harbor shore, and when we got to Spratt's old cannery, not far from where the C.P.R. station is now, we could see that not a building was left standing, nothing but blackened stumps, a few bricks here and there, and wire mattresses and an odd safe or two. And we were lost! One could not even locate the street corners with a certainty.

"When we realized to the full what the fire had done, we shook hands all three of us and vowed that we would never divulge anything whatever about my setting that fire and, until late years, I don't think any of us ever did. This is the real inside truth of the burning of Vancouver, and I had the honor, or dishonor, of striking the fateful match.

Presentation Is Made to Member

DUNCAN — As a farewell to Mrs. H. P. Swan, who is leaving Duncan shortly, to reside in England, the Cowichan Chapter I.O. O.E. held an informal meeting at the home of Mrs. W. Prest, Duncan, on Wednesday evening. Her fellow members presented Mrs. Swan with a clock and card with all their names inscribed. Mrs. Russell, Regent of the Chapter, made the presentation, and expressed the regret of all at Mrs. Swan's departure. She has been a member of the chapter since she came to Duncan in 1920, and a most active worker in many organizations in the district.

At the preliminary meeting reports were received from the hospital, echoes, child welfare and immigration secretaries. In response to a request from the hospital W.A., it was decided that the chapter would have their usual Christmas cake stall at the annual bazaar in aid of the hospital. The meeting voted to hold the annual garden party early in July.

CITY LAND SALES RISE

Active Home Construction On Property Sold By Corporation Shown

Up to the end of May the city lands department had sold 51 properties, arranged the transfer of another 10 and received the assurance 22 new homes and one $10,000 public garage would be erected on the land involved, Alderman R. A. C. Dewar, city lands committee chairman, said today.

The statement followed yesterday's lands committee meeting, at which an exchange was authorized to permit the construction of a $4,000 duplex on McClure Street. Several other inquiries were received at the session.

Cash receipts up to the end of May this year amounted to $30,900, against $22,477 for the same month in 1937, the alderman stated. To the end of May last year 30 properties only were sold.

CITY RELIEF SHARE GROWS

Payments Made By Victoria Last Month 68.5 Per Cent Above May, 1937

Relief allowances distributed in Victoria during May cost the city itself $11,753.34 and the provincial government $6,146.20, according to figures compiled today at the city relief office.

The figures represented an increase in expense to the city of 68.5 per cent over that of the corresponding period last year. The government, on the other hand, enjoyed a reduction in its contribution for May of 65.2 per cent.

The increase in city costs was shown despite a reduction of 27.3 per cent in total expenditure for the month as against May, 1937. Last month the total, including city and government shares, amounted to $17,899.54. Last year the May expenditure was $24,619.36.

Married units received allowances aggregating $12,440.41 against $12,829.44 in April and $18,975.54 in May of last year. Single unemployed were given $5,459.13 in May of this year as against $5,366.19 in April and $5,643.82 in May, 1937.

Bing Cherries' Price Cent Up

A large shipment of California cantaloupes also arrived this morning.

In addition to a shipment of Florida black diamond grapefruit which arrived yesterday, there was received a large supply of grapefruit from California. The prices on grapefruit are easier. Two carloads of oranges were received from California and the market on these was reported firm.

A carload of watermelons, the first of the season, was received earlier in the week.

A large shipment of bananas from Central America arrived yesterday, and pineapples were received from Honolulu.

Boards Of Trade Here Next Year

Islanders Decide to Hold Convention in City; Many Resolutions Passed

COMOX—Next year's meeting of the Associated Boards of Vancouver Island will be held in Victoria, it was decided at the convention held here yesterday.

William Mitchell of Nanaimo was named president for the coming year and Duncan MacBride, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, was elected vice-president. M. C. Ironside of Nanaimo was returned as secretary.

A resolution of the Chamber of Commerce that blocks of timber be left standing along highways and by lakes and streams, for scenic purposes was carried and was passed to the convention's forestry committee for further discussion.

In an effort to protect sport fish in the province, the meeting asked the British Columbia forest branch not to burn logging slash within 100 yards of streams through logging areas.

It asked that no burning be done on steep banks within 200 yards of streams "to help prevent erosion, flooding and loss of spawn."

The convention, on the grounds that interior cities had been opened for benefits under the Dominion Housing Act, to the discrimination of Vancouver Island, urged that the associated boards associate themselves with the British Columbia committee under the Housing Act, in an effort to have loaning companies introduced benefits under the act in such Vancouver Island cities as were not now affected.

Another resolution, dealing with cost of education, read as follows: "Whereas the cost of education has enormously increased in the last few years, and there is a marked tendency to further increase:

"And whereas the greater part of the burden must be borne by taxation on land and buildings thereon:

"Resolved that the A.T.B.M.I. urge the provincial government to remove the school tax from land and improvements and levy a tax on all income without exception, of an amount sufficient to cover cost of education."

The convention asked that the British Columbia Minister of Public Works, Hon. F. M. MacPherson, make an "immediate start to remedy the situation" in regard to improvements "promised" on the Shawnigan Lake Road.

Delegates further suggested to the provincial government that the Sproat Lake-Tofino Road was the "most important new road construction on Vancouver Island."

Another resolution urged the Dominion Government to make a "thorough survey of British Columbia fisheries and adopt a more vigorous, generous policy on behalf of this great natural resource of western Canada."

Another resolution urged that present salmon-spawning grounds be made "more easily accessible for fish by employment of a permanent patrol of experienced men to clear jams in rivers and creeks, and link up isolated pools with main streams during the dry season."

Mr. MacBride and G. Hamilton Harman of Victoria said Victoria was anxious to co-operate with up-island communities for the advancement of the island as a whole. Others from Victoria who attended were: John V. Johnson, vice-president of the chamber; Reeve Wm. Crouch of Saanich; Norman Foster, Charles F. Goodrich, E. D. Todd and W. T. Straith, M.P.P.

HISTORIC SUN DIAL PRESERVED

A 78-year-old sun dial erected by the Royal Engineers at Hope in the Fraser Canyon has been added to the historical treasures of the B.C. archives. Dr. Kaye Lamb, archivist, announced today. The dial was engraved in 1860 by Charles Sinnett, a sapper with the engineers. It stood in Hope for many years, then was moved to the garden of James Wardle. Later it passed into the custody of A. E. Raab, the town commissioner.

Upon Mr. Raab's death last year it went into the possession of the Fraser Canyon Historical Group. Through T. H. Thacker, president, and Rev. Heber Greene of this society it has been deposited in the archives.

A replica has been made which will be set up in the town of Hope. It is planned later to make another replica to be sent to the Royal Engineers Library in London.

MISS VICTORIA CONTEST OPENS

Big Race Starts With Introduction of Candidates at Crystal Garden Show

Picked out by a strong spotlight in the darkened building, the six charmingly gowned and equally charming candidates entered in the Miss Victoria contest were introduced to an estimated 2,000 persons gathered yesterday evening in the Crystal Garden for the "carnival night" arranged by the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce to give the big race a rousing sendoff.

The doors opened shortly after 8 to admit a large crowd, which had gathered outside the building for a half an hour or so.

The attendance kept swelling all evening and the candidates' supporters were soon mingling with the crowd urging the sale of votes for their favorite contestant.

It was a night of keen enjoyment for all. At the north end of the Garden hardworking Junior Chamber of Commerce members had a busy evening as the major portion of the crowd was concentrated there to try their luck on the spinning wheels of fortune, chuck-a-luck, nail-driving, balloon-bursting, horse-racing and a variety of other novelty games. At the south end of the building a popular six-piece swing orchestra provided modern rhythms for the "jitney dances" which attracted a large group of dancers all evening.

URGED SUPPORT

When the lights were dimmed at 10 sharp the spotlight found Ernest Harris, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, who urged those present to give the Miss Victoria contest their fullest support, noting that the success of the August parades depended on support given the contest.

This was followed by Nels Goodwin introducing the campaign managers, who in turn presented their candidates. They were received warmly by the crowd.

The sponsors had erected artistically-decorated booths for their candidates on the east side promenade, where the contestants stood by to greet their friends and acquaintances. The candidate elected "Miss Victoria" will have the honor of representing the city at many functions, including the Navy Week and other celebrations in the city, and at the San Francisco Exposition in 1939. The winner will also receive $150 and second and third $100 and $75, respectively. The two runners-up will also accompany the queen south next year.

Those competing in the contest follow: Miss Jean Wilson, managed by George E. Macdonald and sponsored by the MacDonald Electric Ltd.; Miss Phyllis Addison, managed by Miss G. Townsend and sponsored by the Blue Line Transportation Co.; Miss Jean Bishop, managed by Thomas G. Harris and sponsored by the Public Services; Miss Kay White, managed by Warren W. Martin and sponsored by the United Commercial Travelers; Miss Doreen McGregor, managed by Cedric Lefevre and sponsored by the Beaux-Arts; and Miss Eleanor Moffat, managed by Ed. Whyte and sponsored by the Scottish Societies.

CHOIR GIFT FOR PASTOR

Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Wilson Honored at First United Picnic

The choir of the First United Church held their annual picnic on Wednesday afternoon at McMorran's Pavilion, Cordova Bay. Supper was served at 6.30 and a pleasant evening was spent with games and community singing. Advantage of the occasion was taken to bid farewell to Dr. and Mrs. W. G. Wilson.

In a fitting speech, Neil Perry voiced the feeling of all present when he recalled the happy cooperation between the pastor and the choir, and hoped that both Dr. and Mrs. Wilson would be long spared to enjoy health and happiness.

Miss M. Simpson, president, on behalf of the choir, presented Dr. and Mrs. Wilson with a travelling clock and leather purse, respectively. Mrs. Wilson also received a lovely bouquet of roses, and Miss Fraser and Miss Georgina Wilson corsages of roses.

The evening was brought to a close with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

A decree absolute was granted by Mr. Justice Robertson in Supreme Court today to Phyllis Victoria Featherstone Whiteland against William Alfred Whitehead.

Musicians Honor Ex-registrar

Miss M. G. Ferguson of Toronto At Luncheon Here

Miss M. G. Ferguson, registrar of the Toronto Conservatory of Music from its inception up till her retirement two years ago, is a visitor in the city and was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by the local Toronto Conservatory Club in Spencer's dining-room yesterday.

Mrs. George Phillips presided and extended to the guest of honor the club's affectionate greetings with a charming corsage bouquet of roses and sweet peas. The table was prettily arranged with lilies and candelabras, carrying out the Conservatory colors, blue and gold.

Miss Ferguson, in acknowledging the welcome, spoke of the place music in the community, and urged everyone interested in music to see that it receives its proper place in the new scheme of things.

Much amusement was caused by the reading of "Fergie's Lament, or The Lost String," a parody on "The Lost Chord," written and sung by a Toronto Conservatory student at one of the informal gatherings.

During the luncheon, Mrs. W. W. Boulter, formerly Nora Sherwood, a member of the club, was presented with a beautiful bowl of B.C. pottery, as a wedding gift, Mrs. Phillips making the presentation. Others present at the luncheon were: Mrs. Hartly Morden, Mrs. Bancroft, Mrs. C. S.

Miss Lynda Adams also of the Canadian team, gave a capable exhibition to beat Eleanor Klein, Vancouver, Wash., in the women's diving event. She was given 131.36 points.

Phyllis Dewar, Vancouver, B.C., won both the women's 100-yard and 220-yard freestyle events and swam on the winning Vancouver women's medley and relay teams.

LONDON—Helen Wills Moody was beaten in straight sets today by Mme. Hilda Krahwinkel Sperling of Germany in the semi-final round of the London lawn tennis championships. The scores were 8-6, 6-2.

It was the second defeat Mrs. Moody suffered in her current European invasion. She was beaten by Ruth Mary Hardwick, second-ranking English player, in a three-set match during the recent St. George's Hill tournament.

Mme. Sperling's opponent in the finals will be Mme. Jedzewska of Poland who eliminated Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Brookline, Mass., 6-3, 6-2.

TENSE DRAMA IN "BLOCKADE"

Spanish Civil War Background for Dominion Picture

Perhaps the timeliest of the season's motion pictures, and certainly the one presenting the most intensely dramatic action, is "Blockade," Walter Wanger's production now at the Dominion Theatre today, with Madeleine Carroll and Henry Fonda in the starring roles.

The background of this stirring photoplay is the Spanish civil war, though the central theme of the story is the romance of Miss Carroll and Fonda, both caught in the seething maelstrom of the conflict.

The exceptional cast supporting Miss Carroll and Fonda is headed by Leo Carrillo and also includes John Halliday, Reginald Denny, Vladimir Sokoloff, Robert Warwick and Katharine DeMille.

Capitol Offers Romantic Team

Ginger Rogers and James Stewart Featured in "Vivacious Lady"

Co-starring Ginger Rogers and James Stewart as a new romantic team, "Vivacious Lady," a sparkling, fast-moving comedy, opened today at the Capitol Theatre, and proved to be one of the screen's gayest recent offerings.

The film, is a vehicle for titillating Ginger Rogers, whose recent triumph was in "Stage Door"; and for James Stewart, who scored decisively opposite Simone Simon in "Seventh Heaven," and later in "Wife versus Secretary," "After the Thin Man," "Rose Marie" and others.

In addition to the stars, the RKO Radio cast includes James Ellison, as the playboy cousin, Charles Coburn, as the domineering father; Beulah Bondi, as the weak-willed mother, Frances Mercer, as Stewart's jealous fiancée, and Phyllis Kennedy, as an independent servant.

That the task was performed with dispatch for spectacular outdoor action of "The Adventures of Marco Polo," which stars Gary Cooper at the Plaza Theatre on Monday, is a tribute to the efficiency of Samuel Goldwyn's studio organization and the field generalship of Director Archie Mayo.

4,000,000 Tip Top Garments Sold

New Selling Ideas Defeat Recession For Clothiers, Manager Says

A. M. TALBOT

A visitor in Vancouver today is A. M. Talbot, general sales manager, Tip Top Garments. "Obviously, the clothing business is one of the most sensitive to economic conditions. We all know what a drastic slump occurred during the depression as far as clothing was concerned. We at Tip Top experienced some hard going. However, we decided that we would never be unprepared again. When we foresaw a recession in business, we went to meet it well armed. As a result we are maintaining our normal volume of business," Mr. Talbot said.

"We felt that if men were given an incentive to buy—new ideas—new merchandise—they would purchase new clothing. "We introduced the 'Balanced Wardrobe' idea—proper clothing for the proper occasion. "We sold more evening wear last year than ever before. This summer we have tried to impress men that cool clothing is the only thing. As a result our sales of tropical worsteds and other summer clothes have skyrocketed. Demand for slacks, coat trousers and jackets has also increased tremendously.

"Trends for fall indicate that the three-button, single-breasted suit will be number one model for fall and winter. Sport coats are out as extreme drape models. "Fabrics will play an all-important part. There will be special emphasis on types of weaves such as diagonals, stripes, herringbones, pencil stripes, alternating stripes and so on. The trend will be to slightly more sombre tones. Blues will be right up in front."

"Every day our customers show us that they are more value-conscious," Mr. Talbot commented.

"Perhaps that explains why we are able to employ over 1,500 union workers in our plant. It is 28 years since Tip Top was established, and in that time we have produced 4,000,000 garments, every one hand-cut and tailored to individual measure." Mr. Talbot was visibly impressed with improved conditions in the west. "I think you have to hand it to our western friends the way they have stuck it out through troublesome times the past few years. People like that are pretty hard to beat, and I think I can speak for everyone back east when I say that our own gratification is equal to yours at the turn of the tide out here," Mr. Talbot said.

Tributes Paid Bob Bouchette

VANCOUVER (CP)—The body of R. D. (Bob) Bouchette was recovered yesterday from the waters of English Bay as fellow newspapermen and his readers joined in paying tribute to him. Bouchette, who made a practice of long night swims, disappeared after entering the water at Second Beach here after midnight Sunday. The body was found near the Point Atkinson lighthouse, more than five miles from where he started.

He was a confident swimmer but a strong wind which blew up that night is believed to have overcome him.

The name of "Bob Bouchette" had become a household one to thousands who read the column "Lend Me Your Ears" under which he wrote during most of his 11 years with the Vancouver Sun. He had joined the staff of the Vancouver Province in April.

BORN IN MONTREAL

Robert Dillon Bouchette was born in Montreal 38 years ago, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. M. Bouchette, still of that city. He was educated at Loyola College and as a youth was in training with the Royal Canadian Air Force at the close of the Great War.

After short periods on the stage and in business he turned to journalism with the Montreal Gazette. He is survived here by his widow and two young children, as well as his parents in Montreal and one sister.

The funeral will be held here Saturday, with burial in Ocean View Memorial Park.

MOVE TO END TAX DODGING

OTTAWA (CP)—Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Finance, is striking a blow at Canadian tax dodgers who set up residence in other countries to avoid paying income taxes here.

In his budget statement yesterday the minister made no changes in income tax rates for individuals or corporations, but proposed several changes in the regulations to tighten administration.

In future, when an individual or corporation, ordinarily resident in Canada, makes use of any transaction involving another country, such as setting up residence there or forming a company there, the facts will be reviewed by the treasury board at Ottawa.

If the treasury board decides it is a straight business proposition, there will be no income tax assessed. If it decides it is an attempt to avoid Canadian income taxes, the taxes must be paid "to the same extent as if the transaction had not taken place."

It will be possible to appeal the board's decision to the Exchequer Court.

RULES FOR GIFTS

The most elaborate change in the Income Tax Act is made in the gift tax section. This tax, applied in 1934, was aimed at wealthy persons who escaped income and succession taxes by giving away their wealth to their families during their lifetime.

The changes announced yesterday make one exemption and increase all rates. On gifts up to $25,000 the rate is increased from 2 to 5 per cent. Three per cent is added to each category until the rate on gifts between $300,000 and $400,000 is raised from 7 to 10 per cent. Between $400,000 and $500,000 the rate goes up from 8 to 12 per cent; between $500,000 and $1,000,000 from 14 per cent, and above $1,000,000 from 10 to 15 per cent.

One change in the Income Tax Act will apply to pension funds of corporations. It will make it possible for companies to make lump sum payments to pension funds built up jointly by them and their employees and be able to deduct them for income tax purposes.

PROBLEMS IN TRADE TALKS

OTTAWA (CP)—For the first time since 1912, the budget presented to the House of Commons yesterday made no tariff changes. The reason was the negotiations at Washington between the three nations of Great Britain, Canada and the United States for trade treaties. Finance Minister Dunning said it would be futile for Canada to give to day and bargain tomorrow.

At the same time the minister pinned his hope for world reduction of tariffs on a policy of bilateral treaties. The day of the unilateral treaty was over for Canada. This country could not afford to adopt a lone-wolf attitude and reduce tariffs while its two best customers, Great Britain and the United States, pursued a course of moving only through trade treaties.

Mr. Dunning said:

"We believe that all the benefits of the good neighbor which we in Canada appreciate in our relations with the United States of America can be fully realized only through closer co-operation in the economic field between the United States and all the countries of the British Commonwealth. The process of translating these hopes, which we all share, into concrete results has been difficult and protracted. "In the present instance, it is clear that if we are to find fair and practicable solutions to the problems involved, Canada must make its contribution towards a general settlement."

It was the government's hope until recently the new agreement with the United States had been contained in the budget. When that proved impossible, the minister decided not to disturb the customs tariff structure pending completion of negotiations.

Export Trading Bolsters Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—Canadian export business, estimated up to 500,000 bushels of old-crop wheat, including durum, helped bolster Winnipeg wheat futures when they threatened to collapse after opening a cent higher today. At the final bell prices were 1/2 higher to 1/4 lower, July 87 1/2, October 86 1/2, November 85 1/2, December 84 to 84 1/2 cents.

The trade continued nervous, with spasmodic buying or selling, moving prices on a two-cent scale.

Volume was small as bearish reports for the most part were offset by continued unfavorable crop conditions in the United States southwest.

Confirmation of virtual crop failure in sections of Italy was noted by the grain trade.

Liverpool closed 1/4 to 1/2 lower, and Buenos Aires at noon advanced 1/2 to 1 1/2 cents. Chicago hung close to yesterday's final levels in late stages.

Cash wheat spreads improved a cent for red springs and two cents for durum. Coarse grain dealings, apart from domestic interest in oats and export demand for barley, were featureless.

Wonders of Beaver Life

IV—MORE ABOUT DAMS

If we had told a foreign visitor about the great dams built by North American beavers, he might think he was hearing a fairy tale. There would be a way to prove our story, however. We could take our visitor to a place where beavers live, and let him watch them work by the light of the moon.

A muskrat cousin of the beaver.

Sad to say, the beaver population of our continent has been cut down, and in many forests and woodlands not a single beaver is to be found. In pioneer days, the greed for profits led fur traders to trap and kill millions of these interesting animals. Forty years ago, it looked as though the end of the beaver race was in sight. Then laws to guard them were put into force. These laws have worked rather well, and there are more beavers today than at the beginning of this century.

Even so, we must go far from cities to find beavers in their present homelands. They have learned that men are dangerous enemies, so they fear men. We are told that long ago they often worked in the daytime, but nowadays they seldom, if ever, are to be seen at their tasks until after sunset.

The dams built by beavers may be only two or three feet high, but often they rise from six to eight feet. Now and then a dam is from 10 to 14 feet high.

A colony of beavers can build a dam three feet high and 20 or 30 feet long in two or three weeks. August seems to be the month in which most new dams are started. The extra-large dams are the work of many beavers working over a period of many years. Certain dams are more than a quarter of a mile long!

After beavers build a dam, the work on it is not finished. Far from it! They keep watching it to fix up any break.

A photographer went into a famous Ontario park, the Algonquin Reserve, where thousands of beavers have been allowed to make their homes. He wanted pictures of the animals fixing a broken dam. Making a small opening in the dam, he placed a string across it in a way which would make the camera "click" when the string was touched. That night the hole was fixed, and a beaver snapped its own picture. Night after night, tests of the same kind were made, and the beavers kept fixing up the damage.

Among the relatives of beavers are their cousins, the muskrats. They are not nearly so large as beavers, and do not put dams in streams. They have many of the same habits, however, and are expert swimmers. Their winter homes usually are made of reeds and mud.

Sometimes muskrats take up quarters in a beaver lodge, and may live there side by side with beavers during the whole winter. Like beavers, they like to swim under the ice of a frozen pond.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—What makes an old maid? Of course, they always say it is because Mr. Right never came along, but I think that every old maid just lost her chance with the man she loved. I know an old maid who was once in love with my husband. She went with him six years when she was a girl. He says he never thought of marrying her, but she as good as proposed to him time after time. He is always telling me how much in love with him she was, and even now when they meet she smiles and looks so pleasantly at him and tries to get him to talk to her. When she passes by our apartment she looks as if she were looking for someone. What do you think makes a girl an old maid?

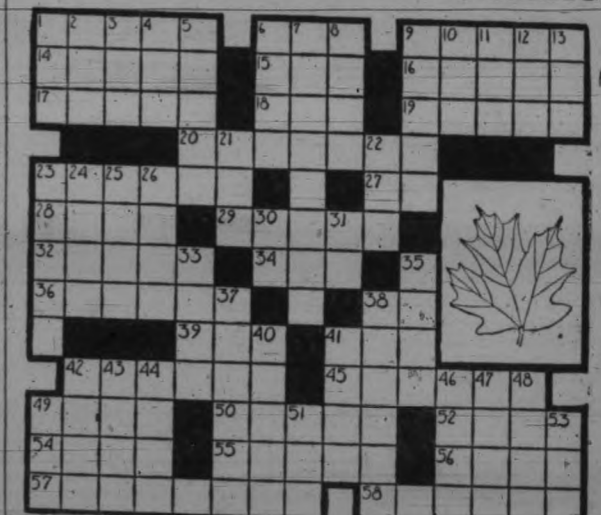

BROWN-EYED SUSAN.

Answer: Well, Brown-eyed Susan, I would think that if the woman you write about is an old maid because she missed marrying a man who was such a cad that he kissed and told and brags about how he won her heart and then ditched her, she should consider that her guardian angel saved her from a fate far worse than being a spinster. Also you must take into consideration the likelihood that she was one of the many women who enjoy the attentions of men and find them useful as escorts, but who have no inclination toward the domestic state, and that she said "no" when your husband popped the question.

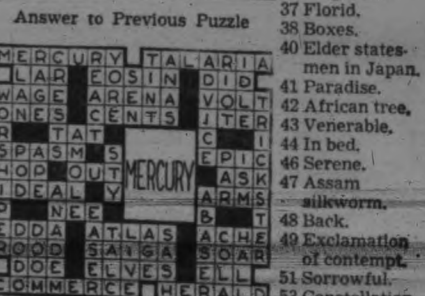

The tradition is that all women are crazy to marry, but this is far from being the truth. There are many women who are celibate by nature, and who would rather have a chimney that smokes, a parrot that swears and a cat that roams at night than any man. They love their own freedom, their own pocketbooks and their own little ways better than a husband, and they pity their friends who have to rush home from a bridge game to get dinner for John or Mike and who have to clean up after untidy creatures who leave a bathroom looking as if a typhoon had hit it and who scatter newspapers and cigarette ashes all over the floor.

HOROSCOPE

SATURDAY, JUNE 18, 1938

Benefic aspects rule as the week closes. It is a day for selling and for promoting important business, according to astrology. The planetary government appears to favor persons of every rank who wield authority. The seers forecast improved conditions for business and extended co-operation in government affairs.

This should be a lucky date for approaching heads of families regarding vacation plans. Fathers may be generous in providing for summer outings.

Public health will be much discussed as epidemics appear in various parts of the country. Fevers and maladies affecting the digestive tracts may be unusually widespread. Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of many benefits. Incomes should be on the rise for many and success in high ambitions will come to the few.

Children born on this day probably will be industrious as well as talented. Subjects of this sign win success through unusual gifts.

C.P.R. Engineer Dies Suddenly

REVELSTOKE, B.C. (CP)—J. W. Rear, 55, Canadian Pacific Railway engineer, collapsed and died yesterday while visiting his wife in hospital. Death was attributed to a heart attack.

Rear, who entered the Canadian Pacific service at Kamloops in 1903, had not been feeling well for some time, although he was still in active service, but had intended laying off for brief rest. He had taken trains out of Revelstoke since 1907.

Surviving are his widow, a daughter, Edith Robertson of Falconbridge, Ont., and a son, Fred, at Nelson, and two other sons, Edward and Arthur at home.

Grain Dealers Scanning Crop

Fifth of Wheat Yield Expected to Be Exported Via Pacific Coast

By STUART UNDERHILL, Canadian Press Staff Writer.
VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver grain dealers carefully scanned the prairie crop report today and joined growers in hoping estimates of a 400,000,000-bushel crop would be fulfilled.

They found encouragement in reports of the statistical department of the Vancouver Grain Exchange which indicated one-fifth of the prairie wheat crop would find its way to export markets through this city.

Since 1926, five years after the exchange was established, a record of figures showed the relation of wheat exports here equaled 50 per cent of the Alberta crop and 20 per cent of total prairie production.

However, grain dealers agree two factors may curtail this relationship during the crop year beginning next August 1. One is the abnormally small exportable surplus, and the other is the war-shattered Oriental market, which in the past has absorbed as much as 32,000,000 bushels in a year.

"We're looking for about 50,000,000 bushels," said an exchange official who had seen the record year's export of 97,000,000 bushels in the crop year of 1928-29 dwindle to an estimated 13,000,000 for the current year. "We'd probably get 80,000,000, half of what Alberta's expecting, if it weren't for the war and the small surplus."

In 1928, when Vancouver was leading North American ports in the export of Canadian wheat, the prairie crop was 544,000,000 bushels and the Alberta crop 172,000,000. Vancouver shipments amounted to 18 per cent of the total.

The 1932-33 crop year was another boom period for Vancouver, with an export of 95,000,000 bushels, or the equivalent of 22 per cent of the prairie crop. The following year exports were halved, but the relationship held constant.

Drought conditions on the prairies more recently and the small exportable Canadian surplus dried up the golden flow of wheat to the coast.

Two Injured In Boat Explosion

VANCOUVER (CP)—A gasoline explosion aboard a lunch in False Creek sent two men to hospital last night in a critical condition with third-degree burns. Arnold Fanning, 28, and George Thomson, 26, told police from their hospital beds they were cleaning a gasoline tank aboard their boat when it exploded. They could not say what caused the blast.

Flames immediately broke out and their clothing caught fire. Fanning was forced to jump into the water to extinguish the flames. Thomson beat out his flaming clothing.

The two staggered up the street to a taxi stand from where they were rushed to hospital. Their boat was badly damaged in the blast and resolute fire.

It is announced by the Public Works Department. The cost of the work is about $7,108.

Grand Old Man of C.P.R. Receives Birthday Felicitations

VANCOUVER — "Grand old man" of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Samuel Phipps, who took his first railway job in Canada at Montreal as an office boy in 1858, celebrated his 92nd birthday here today.

He was superannuated from the post of district master mechanic at Vancouver in 1913 and on July 1 will complete a quarter of a century on the Canadian Pacific's pension rolls. His retirement on July 1, 1913, ended a 31-year stretch with the Canadian Pacific in the west, but his railway service in Canada extended back through 55 years.

His 92nd birthday today brought telegrams and other messages of felicitation from all parts of Canada. Among Canadian Pacific officials who sent him best wishes were: D. C. Coleman, senior vice-president, Montreal; W. M. Neal, vice-president of western lines; G. A. Cotterell, assistant general manager western lines, Vancouver; and R. A. Payne, superintendent of motive power at Winnipeg who as a newsboy in Winnipeg in 1883 delivered a daily paper to Mr. Phipps, then locomotive foreman in the Manitoba city.

Lumber Charters Are Investigated

SEATTLE (AP)—C. O. Arthur, examiner for the Maritime Commission, opened hearings yesterday on complaints arising from the movement of lumber in certain chartered vessels in intercoastal trade.

The complaints were brought by the Western Lumber and Shingle Company, Seattle, the Calmar Line, the American

Hawaiian Line and the Weyerhaeuser Line. The charges were that idle tonnage was chartered for the movement of grain from the Pacific Coast to North Atlantic ports but that lumber was loaded instead, below the minimum rate provided in the tariff. The examiner will also hold a hearing investigating intercoastal joint rates of the lines.
